Beyond Imagination

An imagination is a powerful thing. To imagine is to create a representation of something. An image is a mental picture of or a concept of something. We all have an imagination, a mental picture of how things should be, and we can all create that "perfect" representation in our heads. Imagine for a minute what would happen if we could make those mental pictures and representations real. What if we could go beyond imagination, just think what we could do. In the pages that follow, you will see what happens BEYOND IMAGINATION.

Dean Evans

riginally from Delaware, Dean Gart Evans chose High Point College to continue his education and has since not left. He graduated in 1975, so he knows the college both as a former student and as an employee. This year marked his fifth year as Dean of Students and his tenth year as a staff member. Dean Evans spent the first five years as the Director of Alumni Affairs. Student involvement is top on Dean Evans' list of changes at HPC. He would like to see every one get involved during their years here because after all, "High Point is your college."

Dean Davis

The future for High Point College is very bright, so bright that very little is beyond imagination; the National Commission report of 1990 is proof. We are committed to providing the best possible context for student life and learning. I see the emergence of a university, small but significant. I see many new things, a master's program, more endowed chairs, and scholarships for need and achievement. I envision a student services center that will house career and personal advising. I imagine an even more beautiful campus with a rerouted Montlieu Avenue, a completed Millis Center, a Fine Arts facility, added classrooms and faculty offices. I even see a new name for it all. It is exciting to imagine.

4 Opening

President's Statement

We, the faculty and staff of High Point College are blessed by serving a marvelous college made up of a wonderful group of young men and women.

You, the graduating class of 1991 have been endowed with better than average opportunities. It is now up to you to give a return on the investments others have made in you. I have long believed, and have been governed by the conviction, that as I have received, so I must give. A satisfactory life is always measured by usefullness to others.

If we are to be good citizens, we must measure what we do, what we say, and even what we think and conceptualize in relationship to others, because we affect others for good or for bad. Respect begets respect; suspicion begets suspicion; hate begets hate; love begets love. Beyond human service, I challenge you to consider one other thing. Some years ago, when I left college, I was influenced by Louis B. Seltzer. The balding Mr. Seltzer was affectionately called "Louie." He was the editor of the Scripps-Howard Cleveland Press. This is what he said: "Each day I have a special appointment."

Unfailingly, I have kept it since a small boy.

I intend to keep it every day for the rest of my life.

I meet God.

This is a good way to begin a new day; and it is a good way to begin a new journey. Best Wishes,

Jane E. Clartinson

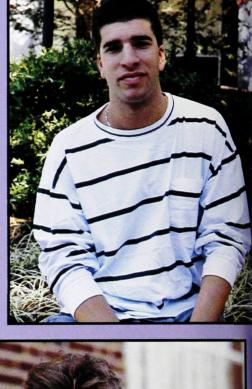

Jamie Lawson, SU President

Student Leadership

eaders are those who direct the operations, activities, and performances of organizations, residence halls, and meetings. Leaders are found all over the High Point College campus. Whether she's a resident assistant in McEwen, or he's the president of the SGA, leaders make a difference. Everyone at some point in their college career is a leader. You don't have to be a president or an RA, you just have to be involved.

Amie Gates, Panhell President

Rich Davis, SGA President

Leah Chappell, Resident Assistant

Al Arrigoni, IFC President

Student Awards

Awards are marks of achievement. In the past months, several High Point College students have received awards that symbolize scholastic achievement, community involvement, and athletic ability. In February 1990, 51 athletes received the Millis Scholarship Athlete Award for maintaining a 3.0 or better in their overall standings at High Point College. Later in the Spring of '90, Christy Rockwell was awarded the Jefferson Award for work in arranging the HPC version of the CROP Walk. The Jefferson Award is the highest honor bestowed on a member of the community for outstanding public service and is given out each year in the Spring. Christy is the youngest person to receive the award. This past summer, Brian Payne went to the NAIA championships for track, and won in his individual event, the 110 meter high hurdles. Winning this event placed Bryan in the top six atheles in this sport naming him an All-American in Track. These are only a few of the many awards won by students at High Point College. From these students' achievements, one can see that HPC students strive to be the best they can be.

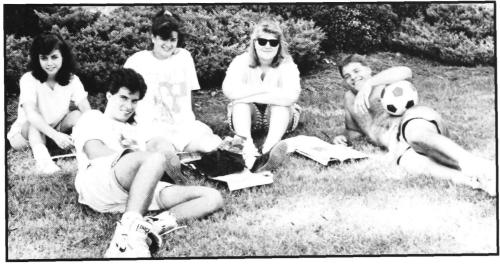

Christy Rockwell, Jefferson Award Winner

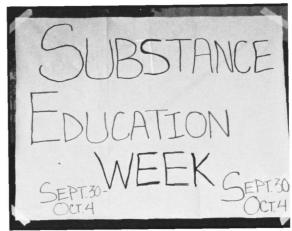

Brian Payne, NAIA 110m hurdle winner

Substance Education Week Sept. 30-Oct.4, 1990

very year the Office of Student Life sponsors Substance Education Week. This year the Resident Assistants, campus Organizations, and faculty members collectively co-sponsored 27 programs during the week of September 30-October 4. The list of programs included speakers, videos and films covering a wide range of topics. According to Dottie Souder, Assistant Dean of Students, "The panel discussion, the Legal Ramifications of Drug Use, was the kick off lecture and highlight of the week." Ms. Souder also commented, "I feel that Substance Education is helping students make more educated decisions regarding substance use and abuse."

Students in the Community

t's not unusual to find many of High Point College's students out working in the community. Whether the students are volunteers or actually out there to make a little extra money, you don't have to look far to find them. One place you can always find HPC students is at Day in the Park. Held every September, a number of campus organizations go out to City Lake to help out the sponsors. Again this year the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity helped direct traffic and park cars, while the Phi Mu sorority volunteered at the sound stage. Also, there are several organizations that help to keep High Point beautiful in the Adopt-a-Highway program. Finally, each semester, you can find those willing to give up a little of their Fall Break and a little of the spring sun to work the Furniture Market. So, it doesn't matter if it's to make money or to just lend a helping hand, you don't have to look far to find HPC students in the community.

Parking cars filled the day for the Sigs at High Point City's Day in the Park.

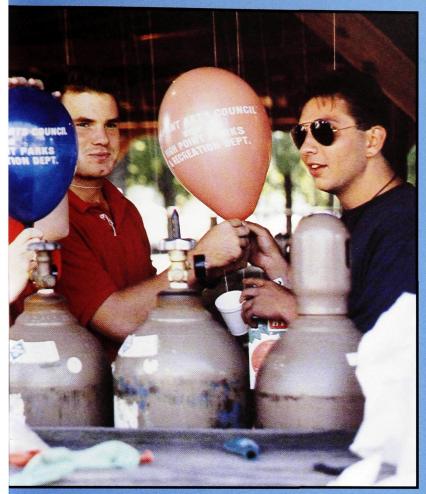

Stacey DePew volunteers at the YWCA with the teen mothers program.

The Pike's serve High Point by adopting a highway.

Phi Mu and Theta Chi started at 6:00am at Day in the Park.

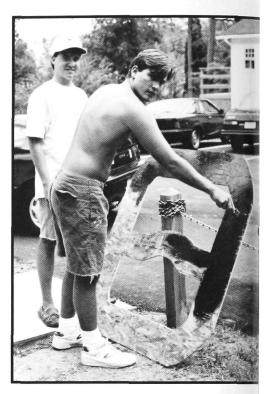

John, Phil, Ted, and Ed break from blowing up balloons.

HPC UNDER CONSTURCTION

Exciting plans to make High Point College more appealing to its students, prospective students, and the surrounding community are under way. Construction of the Millis Center is projected to begin in April or May of 1991 and should take twelve to fifteen months to complete. The project will involve a complete remodeling of the Alumni Gymnasium and the construction of an adjacent building containing an olympic-size pool, racquetball courts, a weight room, locker rooms, offices, classrooms, and meeting and reception areas. The approximate cost of the project is $5.5 million. Other plans for renovations are aimed at Roberts Hall. There will be complete exterior renovations, and interneal renovations will include an elevator, to make the building handicap accessible. The projected completion date for all of these renovations involving Roberts Hall is January 1992. HPC is under construction.

The Pike Brothers take a break after a long days work at the house.

Carl shapes up the exterior of the Lambda Chi house.

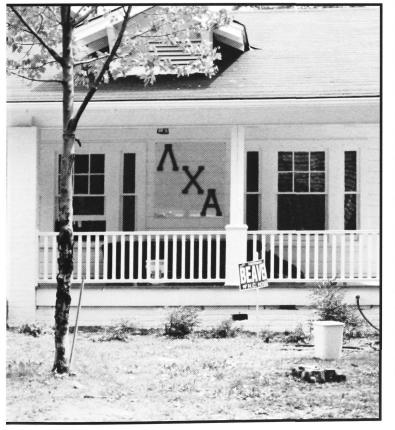

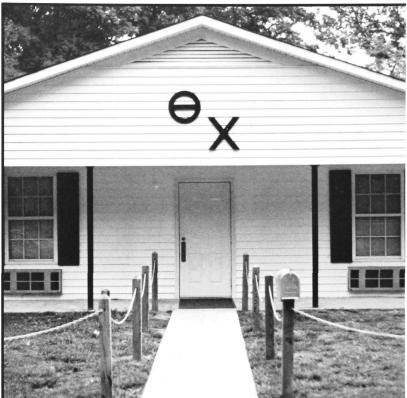

Dr. Martinson speaks on the construction at HPC during the dedication of Finch Hall.

The Sigs spent the summer working on the house to have it ready for the first day of school. They plan to continue renovations on the interior of the house. They enjoy the new arrangement and are pleased that the school has given them the chance to prove themselves with their house.

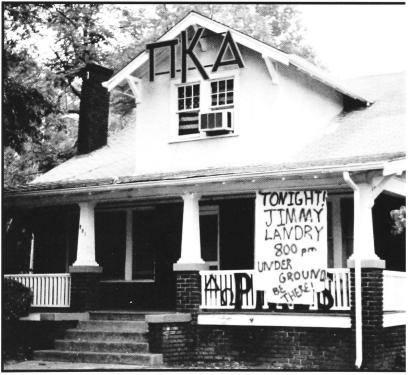

The Theta Chis spent their Fall Saturdays cleaning and remodeling their house. With the help of their Alumni, they hope to construct a deck as well as other features inside. They are very grateful to High Point College for permitting the fratemities to live in houses.

The Pikes repainted the interior and refinished the hard wood floors of their house. They also completely refurnished, and they plan to relandscape and repaint the exterior of the house. They, too, are enjoying the new atmosphere of a fratemity house.

Convocation-Finch Dedication

August 28, 1990 marked the day New Hall was renamed and dedicated and the official opening of the College. Meredith Slane Finch Person honored her grandchildren by dedicating her contributions in their names, thus making New Hall Finch Hall. To most of us at High Point College, the all male residence hall is and may always be known as New Hall, but to furture High Point College students, Finch Hall will be a place to live and play on the way to the real live working world. Even though classes started the week before, the 1990-91 academic year at High Point College began with Opening Convocation. Held in the Memorial Auditorium, students gathered to hear President Martinson address "The Fashioning Lives of Integrity." With the Largest student body ever at HPC, Dr, Martinson challenged us to do something to make our world a better place in which to live. Finally, he challenged the student body to format an honor code for the ultimate integrity-that is, integrity in the school and integrity in our education.

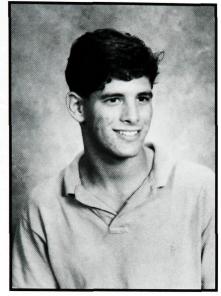

Dr. Ward lead the procession at convocation.

Memorials

In Memorium At this time, the Brotherhood of Lambda Chi Alpha would like to acknowledge the death of Adam Rosenberg. Adam was a brother of the lota Phi chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha and was a valued member of our fraternity. It is rare to come across one individual who was able to touch so many in so little time. Our prayers go forth unto the family of Adam Rosenberg and his presence will be greatly missed.

Adam Rosenberg 9/6/69-7/25/90 uring Adam's two years at High Point College, he was a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity. Through the fraternity, he was very active in helping the Mills Home for Children. Back home in New Jersey, Adam did volunteer work for the Monmouth Hospital, earning the most volunteer hours ever. Also, Adam was nominated for the Governor's Award for his volunteer efforts. He will be missed by all who knew him.

DAISUKE KAMITANI 8/2/71-9/22/90

he High Point College Community is also mourning the loss of Daisuke Kamitani. Daisuke was born in Nara City, Japan, and during his high school years, he lived in Colorado as an exchange student. Although he was only at High Point College for a short time, he was still part of our family and will be missed by those who knew him. Our prayers go out to his family.

HISTORY OF CONTINUING EDUCATION PROGRAM

In 1978, sixty-three working adults entered the HPC Continuing Education Program. In 1990, over 1200 Evening Degree students attended classes at the High Point and Winston-Salem Campuses, with an attendance of around 850 a session. Over 800 Evening Degree students have graduated from High Point College to date.

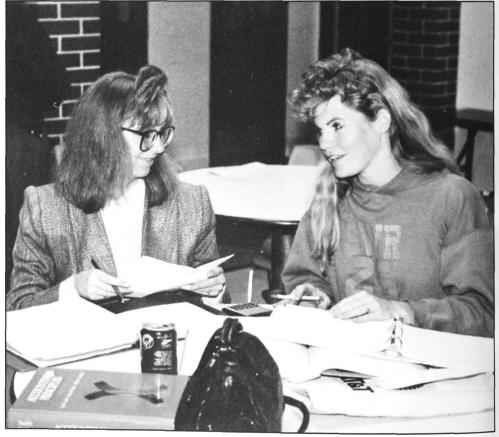

This dynamic program's modest beginnings took a unique course in 1979 and began serving employees of the R.J. Reynolds Company on-site in Winston-Salem. Other area companies recognized the benefits of the program; and, in 1980, the Piedmont Area Evening Degree Association was formed. Classes met at the Thomas H. Davis Center of Piedmont Airlines and the R.J. Reynolds World Headquarters. In 1987, students from both of the Winston-Salem divisions began attending classes in a building erected by High Point College at Madison Park. In the Fall of 1988, classes in Winston-Salem were opened to the entire community; and, in January 1990, the second Madison Park classroom building was added.

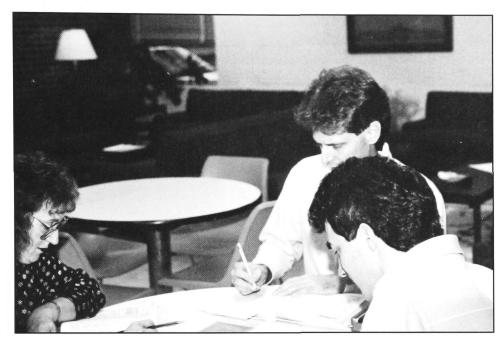

Evening Degree Students, ranging in age from 21 to over 60, travel to High Point and Winston-Salem from 54 towns and cities, realizing long-standing educational dreams and goals which often culminate into Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees.

Being an Evening Student Debra Dalton-'92

Juggling careers, classes and commitments, students in the Evening Degree Program perform balancing acts that are second only to Barnum and Bailey's. There is little time for sleep in such hectic lives, but we dream. Whether it is career advancement of attainment, starting out or starting over, we are all pursuing our dreams.

Graduating from the CEP Cindy O'Neil-'91

It was a scary decision, back then-giving up the comforts of a stable and secure life, risking failure, to pursue what seemed an impossible dream. There were times when I knew my family could take no more neglect, and that I never finish, but they did and so did I

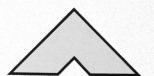

I had made for myself a comfortable secure niche at High Point College, but now I must go-to the future where I will make scary decisions, risk failure, and puruse impossible dreams.

Close Relations

In the classroom they are teacher and pupil; but outside there exists a special bond between the faculty and students of High Point College. The small student to teacher ratio is conducive to a friendly learning atmosphere that is rather unique. A student quickly realizes that their instructor is not only there to teach but is also to support both in and out of the classroom. Although there may be times when relations between them are strained, respect remains the constant.

Unique Individuals

Who are the faculty and staff? The faculty and staff are the unique individuals that form the backbone and order of High Point College. They are the roots of experience that provide guidance and support as the students bloom and grow. These individuals are the ones that provide knowledge designed to complete our college education. However, the faculty and staff can only offer the education; the students are the ones that apply the knowledge.

Panhellenic

Council

he Panhellenic Council is the governing body of the four sororities on campus. With weekly meetings to chart the progress of the sororities, Panhell directs the girls in the direction of operating and managing the group in the spirit of the greek system. Each year Panhell sponsors Spring Rush; this year rush was held Jan 21-25. This year's rush was a great success for all involved.

Members of each sorority participated in the Fall activities fair.

Inter-Fraternity Council

The IFC serves as the governing body of the four campus fraternities. The organization consists of the Executive Council and four representiatives from each fraternity. IFC has become much more active this year by sponsoring community service projects and social projects. The highlight for the year for IFC is Greek Week. The members plan and oversee the entire week. IFC also has a judical committee to solve any problems among the fraternities.

Kappa Delta

Gamma Gamma Chapter of Kappa Delta proves that they are "unique but united" by their involvement in campus activities. Their victory in intramural sports and other awards and recognitions make them shine above the rest. Their fundraisers supported their national philanthropy; the National Committee for the Prevention of Child Abuse. Kappa Delta also supports a local philanthropy; the YWCA. They were proud to have a KD on the Homecoming Court again this year. They looked forward to a successful RUŚH in January amidst all of their studies and activities. Their awesome bond of sisterhood continued to grow through their involvement together and we are proud to be Kappa Deltas!! "Let Us Strive!"

Rick and Binger hang out at the newest addition to the Theta Chi house-a pool.

Theta Chi Epsilon Alpha

The Epsilon Alpha Chapter of Theta Chi fraternity has been found on the campus of High Point College since April 11, 1954. The 1990-91 school year brought many changes for the chapter. The acquisition of fraternity houses has only enhanced the close brotherhood found in Theta Chi. With the help of the established Alumni program, Theta Chi was able to renovate the house. From remodeling the house to the dances and mixers, Theta Chi had a very successful year. Made up of student leaders from over 10 different organizations, Theta Chi is second to none on the HPC campus. Alma mater first and Theta Chi for Alma mater.

Zeta Tau Alpha

ZTA Pledges on Bid Day.

Delta Gamma

he Zetas of the Delta Gamma Chapter share a special friendship. Each sister is an individual, but together they make up a unique group. The letters ZTA can be seen all over campus through their involvement in many organizations such as volleyball team, field hockey team, SGA, Tower Players, International Club, and many more. They support a philanthropy, the Association for Retarted Citizens. The sisters of Zeta Tau Alpha share many things, they look forward to dances including the 100th Link Ball and Masquerade Ball, also mixers, work projects, and special birthday dinners. Most of all, the sisters of Zeta Tau Alpha know that ZTA is forever!

here was no better place to be in 1990-91 than with Alpha Gamma Delta. The Gams excelled in every facet of High Point College life. This year brought a new beginning with the move to Millis. Their red and buff roses along with their mascot the squirrel could be seen in almost every room. After many hours of painting, the bare walls came alive with AGD. The sorority placed its mark all over campus as well. The Gams had 4 representatives on the homecoming court, and Stacey DePew was crowned gueen. The men of PKA named Chris Premock their dreamgirl. Gams are involved in almost every organization on campus. Perhaps the best thing about the Alpha Gams was that no matter how many activities they participated in, they did it together.

Even with the many on campus activities, they also supported their two Philanthropies, Project Hope and the Children's Miracle Network. Along with these, they were active within the community. They helped the Boy Scouts of High Point with the Jerry Lewis Telethon. Although they were busy, they always found time for some fun. Their sorority functions included a Sisters' Dance, a Pledge party, Phi Mu Weekend and the Senior Picnic, as well as the normal mixers. Throughout the year, friendship and memories were created to last a lifetime. They are all unique individuals, but together they are the sisters of Phi Mu!

he Brothers of Pi Kappa Alpha have thus far enjoyed a very successful year. With the addition of their new chapter house, and the initiation of all of their pledges last year, they have set out to improve themselves in ever aspect. So far this year, they have had strong showings in all intramural sprots, several campus and community projects, such as adopting a stretch of highway, two very successful rushes, and their first black tie social event in many years. # INTERMISSION

The Intermission

Lost year the students of High Point College claim that the thing that they would like to see most in the ZENITH are more candids. This year we were able to add more pages to the book and yes, more candids. We thought that we would take a break from the usual sections and add an intermission. This is a break from the headline stories just to see you, the students, at your finest. The intermission section is a section of what High Point College life is all about. Take a break to enjoy the students doing what they do best.

Where were you on January 16, 1991

The thought of war is something unimaginable to our generation probably because we have never experienced it. Although a few may remember the ending of Vietnam, no one was old enough to look at it in their own perspective. I never imagined that I would see a war in my life time. The very thought sends chills throughout my body. Knowing soldiers and Kuwaiti citizens makes me back the decision made by the USA and the UN. It upsets me to see the citizens of the United States, who believe so much in freedom, protest against the war. Some call it a war for oil. This can hardly be true considering our alternative sources for oil acquisition. The war is about freedom-freedom for the citizens of Kuwait from acts of terrorism like those performed by Saadam Hussien. God bless not only our troops but all of those serving in the Gulf and fighting for freedom!

-Ralph Barber

Students gathered in front of the campus center to show their support and sign a petition stating they support the troops in the Gulf.

Coming from a generation that has lived through World War II, the Korean War (which my husband served in), and Vietnam, my feelings of having our son now with the military forces in Saudi Arabia are mixed--pro and con. Since his deployment in August, David has been in our hearts and prayers constantly. My emotions run the "roller coaster" from fear, apprehension, distrust to extreme love, pride and confidence in our position there. As a mother, I worry about his personal well being and safety. I know he is well educated, well trained, well equiped and totally committed to his profession as a career Army officer. This is his choosing and I am thankful for the quality of our military forces and their spirit of duty. I pray for an early and successful end this conflict.

-Joan Betsill

OPERATION DESERT STORM

Dawning the stars and stripes, two students show their support for the American troops.

Kerry McKnight speaks on the situation in the Gulf and says to pray for our troops.

The anxiousness and anxiety I had felt for so long didn't prepare me for the rush of emotions I felt on the evening of January 16th. I knew in my mind a possible war was imminent, but it didn't seem real when it became a reality. I never imagined that I could experience the feelings of knowing that my country was at war and that my 19 year old brother was helping to defend it.

It is impossible not to feel so many things at once. I am scared, anxious, nervous and full of hope. I want peace in the world. Who doesn't? I feel, however, that our country did what it had to do. I know that all of my fears and hopes are nothing compared to what our brave troops are feeling right now. They represent a country that stands up for what it believes in and will not allow others to threaten world peace.

In many ways I feel helpless, but I know that there is something I can do. I, we, all of us can pray for peace, that our leaders may have guidance, and that we may all unite in one spirit of support, pride and love of our troops. They all need our faith. What would our country be like now if we hadn't always had so many courageous men and women?

-Kerry N. McKnight Class of '91

HPC Displays Its Talent

n February 2, 1991 the students of High Point College showed off their talent in the annual talent show. The B-52's, Vanilla Ice, and John Cougar highlighted some of the acts performed by the talented students. Many of the students were performing in a very serious manner while others were out just to have a good time. After everyone had their chance to perform, the $100.00 prize winners were Brian Shipwash and his dancing partner from UNC. High Point College is made up of many different people who have many different talents. This uniqueness adds even more to the variety of people found at HPC.

More than just the books...

igh Point College is more than just studying. The students can participate in many different activities. From playing athletics to acting in a play or doing community services for the city of High Point, the students do much more than just attend classes. The numerous organizations on campus offer students a chance to grow through learning and participation. As you can tell from the pictures students do much more than just study. This only adds to the uniqueness found on the campus of HPC.

Individuality

Deople from many different places make up the student body of High Point College. This mix of personalities brings people to adapt to a variety of lifestyles. Each person has their own unique personality which makes up the character of HPC. The students learn to live differently from their peers. This characteristic of High Point College helps students to grow outside of the classroom. The individualistic people found at High Point can definitely be considered Beyond Imagination considered Beyond Imagination.

Stress Relief

xams, papers, and everything else involved in a college education can often cause an enormous amount of stress. Students handle stress in different ways. Some may take a break and sit in the beautiful sun while others may play a game or talk to a friend. What ever the choice, everyone deals with stress in their own way. The campus of High Point College offers many alternatives for stress relief. From the campus center to the intramural field, students can find somewhere to sit, relax, and escape the stress that is felt in college life.

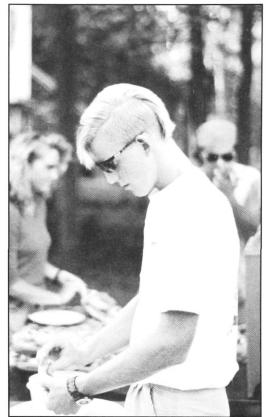

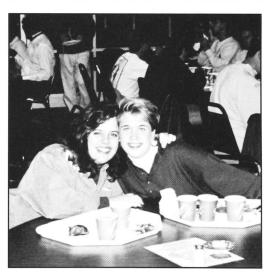

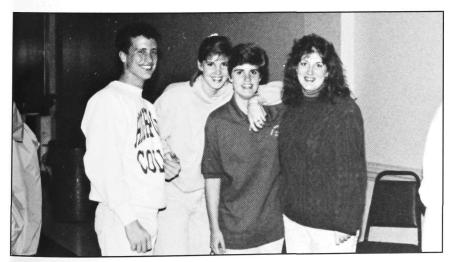

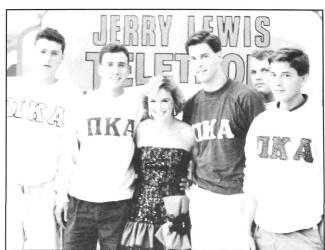

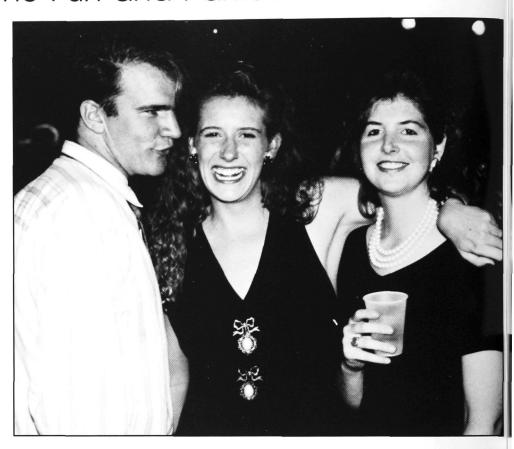

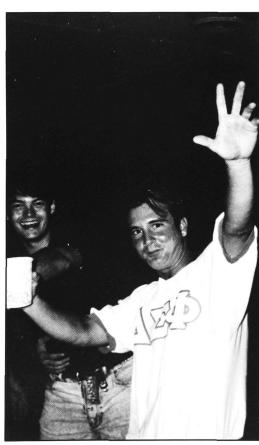

Intermission 111

The Fun and Parties

Along with college life comes an overwhelming social atmosphere which can be fun as well as relieving. Most people around campus know each other and enjoy seeing each other at the many parties and dances. This portion of campus life brings people to know each other in a way outside the classroom. It is very beneficial to all who embark on this wild adventure because you get to know more about people every time you go out. The close nit campus adds much to the social atmosphere at High Point College. As you can probably see in the below pages, the social life at HPC builds special bonds and close friendships.

Close Friendships

igh Point College offers something more than just an education. It offers students a chance to meet new people and form bonds that will be kept for the rest of their lives. The small campus gives people a chance to get to know different people and experience different things. Whether they meet in the classroom or at a social function, people mix and mingle to form close relationships. The bonds that these students build will be kept and cherished for the rest of their lives. Students at High Point College definitely find close friendships wherever they turn.

HPC Soccer Kicks into action

The Panthers faced a rebuilding year with the loss of seven players including two All-Americans. The returning players and newcomers were the true spirit of the team. With few disappointments, the team rallied together to pull off a top season. Notable players for the season were Adam Duff, Jimmy Perrone, Thomas Ingram, and Joey Ranucci. Even with the rebuliding season, the team proved itself well.

Comments on game: "I have devoted my life to soccer and figure I will play until I can't play anymore. When you have done something for so long it's hard to give up; that's why I keep playing. I also have a competitive spirit in my body which is filled when I am on the soccer field, whether during practice or a game. I someday hope to play professional soccer for the Colorado Foxes, so that keeps my devotion level up and makes me play and work as hard as possible."

Men's Tennis

Finishing up fourth in the district tournament and as runner's up to Atlantic Christian College in the conference tournament, the High Point College men's tennis team could say its 10-18 season was an overall success despite the numbers. The team, under the direction of Ray Alley, worked hard and played together. The season was highlighted by a trip to Hilton Head, SC where the men faced some tough competition against top division 1 teams.

Men and Women's Cross Country

PC entered its second season of men and women's cross country with high hopes. With a first place finish for the Ladies and a second place finish for the Men, this year showed hopes for a repeat and a one step improvement. Seniors John High, for the Men, and Missy Frazier, for the Women, both proved very valuable for the teams' efforts in this year's competition.

Field Hockey

The ladies of the field hockey team got off to a great start with two returning seniors who had both participated in the National Hockey festival. With these upperclassmen and the surprising freshmen, the girls felt as though the could have a very strong season. The beginning of the season was slightly rocky as the team players began to look at each others talent and learn to work together. As the end of the season rolled around, the lady panthers had come a long way winning a majority of their final games.

According to coach Joe Ellenburg, "The volleyball team had its third straight 20 game winning season thanks to the coaching strategy of assistant coach Nancy Everett." Led by MVP Sharon Hill, the 1990 team won the Conference championship by defeating Barton College. Other outstanding players include All-Conference members Sharon Hill, Arlene King, Renita Eshleman, and Danette Johnson. Team awards were: MVP-Sharon Hill; Most Improved-Kim Dow; Spirit Award-Michele Kovner.

Men's Basketball

With many new players, the Panthers spent the year rebuilding and had a more successful season this year than last. Coach Steele commented that many of last year's weaker players definitely showed their potential and can only improve over the next few years at HPC. With the help of players like Patrick Medley, Toby Brown, and Daryl Armstrong, the Panthers will be a strong team over the next couple of seasons in the Carolinas Conference.

Cheerleaders

The 1990-91 cheerleading squad led by advisor Nancy Everett, had a fun-filled year. This year they had 8 talented girls, each special in their own way who supported panther spirit and pride at all the men's and women's basketball games. Before they get out and cheer the teams to victory, there is a lot of hard exercising and practices to be done. Anissa Yates, now in her third year as captain, sees great potential for the cheerleading squad for the future.

Wilson and Jett on the ropes course.

he Resident Assistants are selected and trained to administer hall operations and serve as counselors, programmers, and disciplinarians. At High Point College, there are no "dorms." Dorms are a place to eat and sleep. Our residence halls provide experiences and activities which foster the growth of each person in the areas of forming a personal value system, mamaging emotions, establishing relationships, and achieving social and academic competency. Our dedicated RAs are carefully selected upperclass students there to assists students in any way possible.

Sports Medicine

he Sports Medicine program began at High Point College in the fall of 1988. Under the direction of Rick Proctor, the program has grown to include 27 students. One of the main strengths is the practical experience gained by the student trainers. It takes a very strong and sizable commitment to get in the hours necessary for certification. Students work with each athletic team at the college, serve the intramural program, and expand their base of experience with the local high schools. The Sports Medicine program functions under the guidelines set forth by the NATA with the goal of each student to be certified by the NATA.

Student Orientation Staff

rientation is an important process that introduces a new group of students to High Point College each year. The Student Orientation Staff is a special group of students who give up part of their summer vacation to help the new students. The Student Orientation Staff does everything from unloading cars to helping students register for classes. With the help of the Student Orientation Staff, Orientation prepares each new student for face the challenges of college life.

he Writing Fellows program, in its second year, has made several positive impressions on the writing curriculum of HPC. Effecting writing is a necessity in our society, and writing fellows is a tutoring program that offers a collaborative approach to learning effective writing skill. The group of students work with all departments on the campus. The fellows comment on student's written work, discuss these comments and revising strategies in individual conferences. This year's fellows hope the much needed program will continue to grow and help students at HPC.

Apogee

he literary magazine of High Point College is a simulation of creative works submitted by faculty and student. The Apogee is organized and developed through submissions of poetry, short stories, and photography. The magazine was submitted to the campus in the spring.

Teresa Melton is the editor of the Apogee.

Members Jenny McGuire-Robb and Tim Austin perform in the HPC hit GODSPELL.

Tower Players

ower Players is the student theatre organization responsible for producing the plays at High Point College. Membership includes theatre majors and non-theatre majors alike. The 1990-91 season began with the summer production of THE HOLLOW adapted by Ron Law from Agatha Christie, and continued with the popular musical GODSPELL, the One-Act Play Festival, FOOLS, a comic fable by Neil Simon, and concluding with the award-winning THE DIARY OF ANNE FRANK, directed by HPC alumnus Tim Austin.

WWIH

WIH, the student run/Trustee owned radio station, began the 1990-91 year with a totally new look. The station went to FM Stereo sound and increased its CD collection to help bring the best possible sound for its listeners on campus and the surrounding area. With a variety of formats ranging from rap to classic rock, WWIH is dedicated to bringing its listeners what they want. The station operstes on a Monday through Friday-noon to midnight schedule. The dj's at the station hope that the popularity of the station continues to prosper.

Dan and Jamie in pursuit of the opponent.

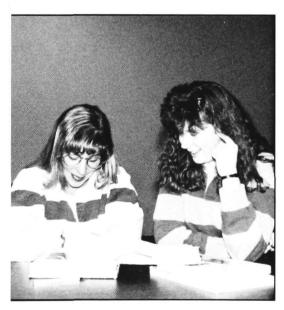

At the beginning of the school year a transfer student came to High Point College with the hopes of starting an organization that would bring the whole school together on week-ends. High Point Rugby Club provided a new sport that brought together the student body on several week-ends last fall. The team consisted of only 3 men who had ever played before. Scott Goodman led the group with 5 years of experience followed by his co-capt, Drew Sceldrick, with 3 years. Behind the two of them the team had 19 who wanted to give this foreign sport a chance. The team was lucky enough to get a very experienced coach, Jaamy Zarnegar. The team compiled a record of only 1-3. They lost to UNC-C, UNC-G alumni, and Guliford; their win was to St. Andrews College(10-3). All those involved with the team, and fans owe this transfer student, Scott Goodman, for a fun semester of rugby. It is sad to say though that due to insurance problems, the team will no longer be able to play on campus.

Learning Assistance Center Students Teach

The Learning Assistance Center Staff

The Learning Assistance Center, under the guidance of Alice Sink and Sara Gomez, offer students a chance to better their skills in all majors offered at High Point College. Founded a few years ago, the LAC gives students who otherwise would not a chance to attend college through a program called Achieving Intellectual Maturity. These students are accepted their freshmen year on probation and must attend the LAC a minimun of two hours per week. If the student makes satisfactory grades after the first semester, he will be placed in good standing with the college. Although this is the main purpose of the LAC, it is open to all students seeking tutorial help with their college work.

Rhonda Brown spends her extra time helping others to better their education.

Sara Gomez discusses ways to tutor students without doing their work for them.

Wilson Bounds talks to an alumni about her career after graduating from HPC.

The Career Development Center

or any student who wishes to take advantage of it, the Career Development Center acts as a tremendous resource center. Activities such as Career Alumni Day, Job Fairs, On-campus recruiting, and internship programs assist students in setting career goals and getting started along the right path to research those goals. On November 5 and 6, HPC combined efforts with 7 other Triad colleges for Job Fair '90 which turned out to be a huge success.

Career Alumni Day was a smashing success.

Save the World

he year 1990 has been a year of enviromental awareness. It all began in April, when for the first time in twenty years, Earth Day was again nationally recoginized. Nearly 750,000 came to Central Park in order to celebrate the earth and the environment. The overwhelming publicity resulted in a sort of trendiness because soon everyone was out to save the world. The challenge set for High Point College is to just save our environment for the sake of doing so, and so far, the college community has responded. There are campus organizations involved in the Adopt-a-Highway; they are the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, American Humanics, and soon to join these two groups will be the Kappa Deltas. SGA is involved too. A proposal given to SGA resulted in the snack bar phasing out the use of styrofoam cups and plates. The High Point Greens have implemented their recycling program by placing barrels near the residence halls and other buildings where aluminum cans are in excess. They are working to get bins for the paper we the students of HPC thoughtlessly throw on the mailroom floor.

The key is widespread student involvement and awareness. The smallest effort by 1,500 students can make the biggest difference. From the simple-turning off the lights, tv, etc.

when leaving a room to asking for paper bags instead of plastic at the grocery store, will help to perserve the earth.

Being heard is also important. We as students of High Point College have the right to be heard by the political candidates of North Carolina whether we are voting residents or not because what goes on here directly influences each of us.

Awareness is the beginning of the end of any social problem. Stop, think, and act to change our self-destructive habits. Conservation. Moderation. Involvement. The keys to a cleaner, safer world.

Orientation '90

August 18, 1990-a day that to many of the members of the Class of 1994 will go down in history. That was the day these people became college students. This year, under the direction of Stephen Hughes, the Student Orientation Staff guided the freshmen through a rigorous schedule of events. Once the weekend was over, the new college students were able to find their place at High Point College and the Orientation Leaders were able to wind down with old friends and new.

The Orientation picnic provides time to make new friends.

That's Entertainment HPC goes Hollywood

Intertainment is "the act of holding the attention of or extending hospitality toward," according to Webster's II New Riverside University Dictionary. There's no doubt about it, entertainment was on the High Point College Campus. Last Spring, the Student Union brought a big name artist on the campus. On the 17th of April, Richard Lewis performed in the Alumni Gymnasium to a crowd of 600. As far as the Fall fo 1990, the Student Union brought many small acts to the campus to entertain its students. There were also numerous hit movies, lectors, concerts, and the Tower Players put on GODSPELL, this year's musical. With all of this, one could definitely say that HPC was entertaining.

Tammy Simon visited York Cathedral during her stay at the University of Leeds, England.

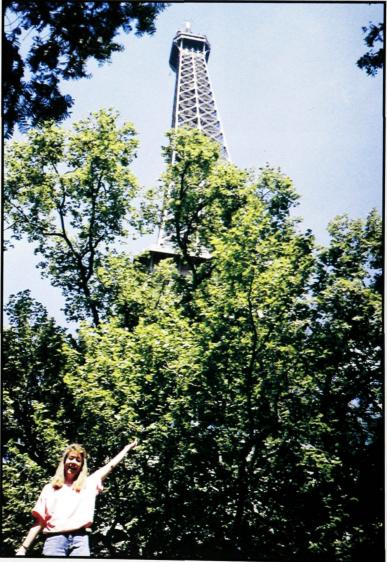

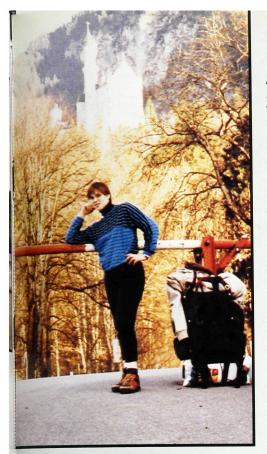

Tom Parker and a French native enjoy french cuisine.

Bran Pace traveled to Chateau Chambourg while studying in Paris.

 $\gamma$ ne of the advantages of a college education is the opportunity to study abroad. HPC offers programs in England, France, and Spain. These can be taken through HPC or through affiliations with other colleges. In order to be accepted for these programs, students must pass an application process and review by the International Studies Committee which takes into consideration their GPA, academic preparation, and the student's ability to adapt and perform in a different culture. In England, Tammy Simon and Kate Sheppard were fortunate to spend the entire 1989-90 academic year at the University of Leeds, while Ron Sotack enjoyed the spring semester in London. The Leeds program, started in 1987 directly through HPC concentrates on the student's major. In the fall of '91, HPC will institute a semester at Westminister College in Oxford, England which would require at least a 2.5 GPA for application. Through a Rosary College affiliation, Robert Boucher and Thomas Parker spent the 1989-90 academic year in Strasbourg, France, while Bran Pace and Melissa Switzer spent the spring semester at the Institut Catolique in Paris, through an affiliation with Guilford College. Josh Gibbs enjoyed a year at the Spanish American Institute of International Education in Seville through an affiliation with the University of Wisconsin. The Spanish program is adaptable to the student's needs. Classes can be taken entirely in Spanish, or they can be mixed with English spoken classes. The school is proud of its study abroad programs.

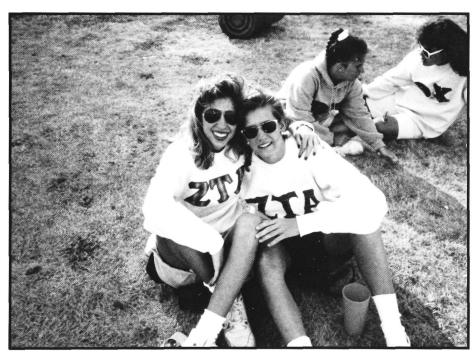

Josh Gibbs sits with Spanish friends during Feria de Abril (April Fair) Sevilla.

Greek Week 1990 A Battle of the Greeks

ach year Panhellenic and IFC pull the Greeks together for a week of fun and challenge. The week of March 19-23 marked Greek Week '90. This year, as in years past, each sorority was paired with a fraternity to compete in many different activities. The teams were Phi Mu/Lambda Chi Alpha, Alpha Gamma Delta/Pi Kappa Alpha, Kappa Delta/Delta Sigma Phi, and Zeta Tau Alpha/Theta Chi. These four teams competed in Win, Lose or Draw, Volleyball, Pizza Eating, and Field Games. The Alpha Gamma Delta/Pi Kappa Alpha team reign victorious over the festivities for 1990. As always, Greek Week was funfilled and exciting for the participants and observers.

Senior Send-Off Concert

Student Union, WWIH, Panhellenic, and the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity sponsored the 1990 Senior Send-Off Concert. The event was held at the Jamestown Jaycee Fairgrounds on April 7. The day consisted of a cartoonist, food, events, and music. The musical entertainment was provided by three exceptional bands, the Waxing Poetics, Billy McLaughlin, and New Potatoe Caboose. The mixture of fun, music, and beautiful weather made the day a success.

Graduation 1990

Point College's Commencement
Exercises were held in the Alumni Gymnasium. This year, however, it wasn't a tornado that forced graduation indoors, it was just a little rainstorm. Richard Spaulding, President of US Air Leasing and Services, spoke to the 332 seniors, the largest graduating class at HPC, about never feeling that someone else holds an edge on them. Ron Law, a professor in the theatre department, was honored with the National Teachers Award, and fifty-six seniors ended their college career with honors.

Students from all Over

igh Point College has become a "melting pot" of sorts, as students come here from all over the country. Although New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, and Florida are the major recruiting states, HPC has students from as far away as Hawaii. It's no wonder that the accents are as varied as the personalities.

Ku Klux Klan Rally

On Sunday March 18, 1990, over 600 people gathered in downtown High Point to protest the march of the Ku Klux Klan. Sixty Klan members marched for several blocks before they stopped to rally in front of the High Point Court House. The police, in riot gear, also walked to keep peace.

Protesters, confined to sidewalks, were of many races, ages, and socioeconomic backgrounds. Many of the protesters were students from High Point College. "We wanted to let the KKK know that they were not welcome in this community," stated one HPC protester. The KKK march ended with no violence or injuries, despite the large number of protesters.

Activities

Fair

Involvement is said to be High Point College's middle name. Well, if that's true, then there is only one way to get involved. That way is to join one or many of the organizations on campus. Every year the Office of Student Life holds an activities fair. This year's event was held on August 30. As in year's past, the many campus organizations convened in the Campus Center Great Room to tell the new students about themselves. And, once again, there was themselves. And, once again, there was a successful turnout and each organization found new members.

The Year 1990

The dauntless Reds socked it to the vaunted A's in one of the most dazzling upsets in World Series history. The Cincinnatti Reds beat the Oakland Athletics 2-1 in the fourth and final game. It wasn't the team that most reasonable people expected to win, much less sweep the 87th World Series. The win gave Cincinnatti its first series trophy since 1976.

The A's won 103 games in the regular season and breezed into their third straight Fall Classic by defeating the Boston Red Sox in the American League Championship Series. The Reds won only 91 regular season games and struggled to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates in the playoffs. No team with so few victories has ever swept a World Series. The 1990 World Series will long be remembered.

The US budget deficit seems to be spiraling out of control. But how bad is it? While the Congressional Budget office is projecting a shortfall of about $164 billion for 1991, many economists believe the actual figure will be closer to $300 billion. Even if the President and Congress come up with a budget-reduction deal, the real deficit is likely to be stuck on a new plateau of about $250 billion indefinitely.

Until this summer, the budget picture was not nearly so bleak. Since 1987, Congress and the President have managed to hold the deficit at around $150 billion per year. Then in August, America found itself faced with three unexpected crisis: the bailout of S&L Industry, which could cost an additional $10 billion to $15 billion; a threatened recession that could subtract $40 billion from previously estimated tax revenues, and a military conflict in the Gulf that will add at least $15 billion to annual spending. This proposes an even deeper threat to our economy, and as its fathers, it is not clear whether financial markets will continue to buy the bonds that finance the deficit. If this occurs, the government will soon find itself paying higher interest rates than ever before during a recession.

World, National, and Local Review

The world was moved to the brink of World War Three when the Middle East country of Iraq invaded and annexed neighboring Kuwait on August 2, 1990. The United Nations approved a world wide trade embargo in response to the seizure. The United States began to send troops to protect neighboring Saudi Arabia when Iraqi troops advanced to the Kuwait-Saudi border. Oil and gas prices jumped and are continuing to rise. In an effort to prevent an attack Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein took hostages from all countries and moved them to strategic military points. He also tried to force all foreign embassies to close. With his violent and much despised acts of terrorism, many other countries became involved in the defense of Saudi Arabia. These countries include France, Britian, the Soviet Union, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium, Australia, Canada, Egypt, Morraco, Syria, and other minor Arabic countries. The crisis has come to neither violence nor settlement but has turned into a waiting game. As gas prices rise and protests about US involvement begin, everybody is wondering if WW III has really started.

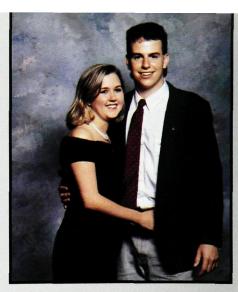

The Middle East crisis hit the campus with the realization that Mike Sparrow and Doug Hanks could go over after graduation if the problem is not solved.

Homecoming Festivities

They say the neon lights are bright on Broadway! There's always magic in the air! This was definitely the case during homecoming weekend which ended with a Student Union sponsored night "On Broadway."

Homecoming weekend was a busy one this year for both students and parents. For a new twist, Parents' Day was combined with the Homecoming Festivities. Parents' Day, Saturday Nov 3, was highlighted by a street fair held in front of the campus center. Here students and alumni set up booths to sell their wares. The fair was a hit.

That same night, the magic really was in the air, especially for Stacey DePew of Alpha Gamma Delta, who was crowned Homecoming Queen during the dance. The dance, held at Showplace on the Park, was a huge success as students, faculty, and alumni danced the night away to the sounds of The Fabulous Kays. High Point College's "On Broadway" was truly a night to be remembered.

Crop Walk

On a cloudless October afternoon over 200 students gathered on the soccer field to participate in the 1990 HPC Crop Walk. The 10K walk proceeded through the city and finished at the soccer field.

Many students participated in conjunction with campus organizations. Over 17 organizations were represented. Some students walked to raise money independently.

In total, the HPC effort raised close to $1500 to help combat World Hunger. Seventy-five percent of the money raised went overseas to provide food for the Third World nations and the other 25 percent stayed in High Point to fund The Father's Table, a homeless shelter. Efforts for the second annual HPC Crop Walk were double the success from the 1989 event.

The 1990 walk was coordinated by Christy Rockwell and chaired by Ralph Barber(recuriting), Wilson Bounds(route and stations), and Sandy Sarnowski(publicity). Following the walk the cafeteria provided a picnic at the soccer field. This was to symbolize the walk that the people of the Third World make each day to get their meal.

Ultimate Frisbee

The fall intramural season opened with ultimate frisbee bringing 10 teams ranging from the fraternities to the basketball team. The frisbee teams battled it out for over six weeks until playoff time rolled around. The teams learned to cope with problems through intramural sports director Vic Zuczek's inspiration quotes. When playoff time came we saw the four campus fraternities battling it out for the championship. Lambda Chi Alpha reigned victorious when the games were completed. Behind the winners were Pi Kappa Alpha second, Delta Sigma Phi third, and Theta Chi fourth. Ultimate frisbee is an exciting sport for everyone on campus. Whether out for a study break or just to relaxe in the sun, the H.P.C. students support ultimate frisbee.

Godspell was the exhilarating and moving rock musical version of the Gospel according to St. Matthew. It was successfully produced during Homecoming Weekend and Parents' Day. Godspell presented the story of Jesus through stories and songs from the Baptism by John to the Crucifixtion. It featured such songs as Prepare Ye, Day By Day, and We Beseech Thee.

Girl Crazy

Amusical comedy hit from the 1930s, Girl Crazy follows the adventures of ex-movie star Johnny Churchill as he tangles with the "bad guys" while starting a dude ranch and running for sheriff in Arizona. With music by George Gershwin and lyrics by Ira Gershwin, Girl Crazy features such standards as But Not For Me, Embraceable You, Strike Up The Band, and I've Got Rhythm.

Our Fearless ZENITH Leaders

The people found on this page are those who have put in overtime, late hours, and ate a lot of pizza in order to complete the dreadlines. They have become close working together late at night and often found each other in different places participating in the same activities. Working together to produce one thing builds a special kind of bond as well as providing inside information on one another. We would like to take this opportunity to thank these members of the staff in our own special way-Christy and Ralph.

Gwen-I feel like I am being slack. Angela-Yearbook brings me many PLEASURES.

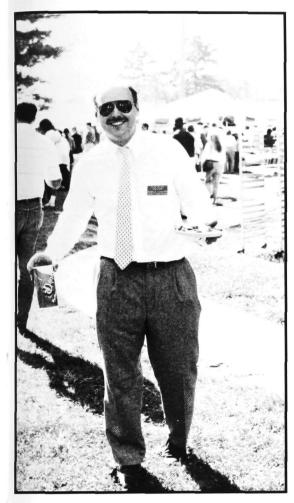

Ron-We'll do lunch and talk yearbook.
Ralph-It's my book and I don't care if my ideas are high schoolish.
Terrance and Chris-Did you say there would be pizza involved?

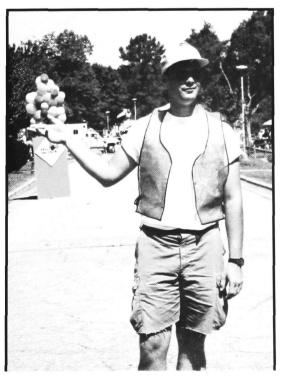

Cropwell-Billy Joel? I lost all of my power and have not been off the wagon yet. I'm really mad and I don't think I like you at all.

Sandy-The Domino's and Captains are right this way.
Brian-You would not have these problems if you would have gotten the IBM.

BEYOND IMAGINATION

imagination formation of mental images of objects not present to the senses. (Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary)

There are many people involved in the publication of a yearbook and I would like to thank everyone for their help and support. Several people went beyond the call of duty and helped me when I needed it the most. Special Thanks to:

- -Ron Dalton for your never ending support and advice.
- -The entire ZENITH staff for all your hard work.
- -Christy Rockwell for showing me the ropes and not saying I told you so.
- -Angela Dailey who was my right arm, my left arm and my sanity. You would not be reading this if it were not for her.
- -Ray from Max Ward Studios

- -John Lefler for his assistance with the Patrons Program.
- -Tom Adams from Hunter Publishing for having confidence that WE could do it ourselves.
- -Gail Curtis for helping with the CEP section.
- -Dr. Head for organizing the international page.
- -Jim Homiak for saving us with his photographs.
- -Woody Gibson for helping with the Sports section.
- -Todd Matthieson for his computer paper.
- -Melissa and Rhonda for keeping me somewhat out of debt.

- -Sandra "L" for her art work which is definitely Beyond Imagination.
- -Sandy S. for listening to me and cheering me up when deadline time came.
- -Lyn for all her photography work.
- -Keith Scott and Brian Smith fo allowing Angela and I to use your room -The entire student body of H.P.C. because without you, there would be no need for this book.

Above all I would like to thank my mom who is always there when I need her and who will always find a solution to my never ending problems!

Lach of us are blessed with an imagination. Our imaginations exist whether we realize it or not. Some may use their imagination to visualize or create while others may not utilize it at all. Behind every invention has been a creative imagination. Everyone has the potential to be a great inventor with their keen imagination but often it needs to be taken one step further — BEYOND IMAGINATION.
